II. Ethics Opinion

A formal ethics opinion is an official opinion issued by the Board of Ethics and shall bind the Board and the person requesting the opinion. It shall constitute a body of principles upon which Officers, Employees, and others may rely for guidance in specific situations.

An advisory ethics opinion is an opinion issued by the Chief Ethics Officer when there is readily available precedent. Such opinion will not bind the Board.

Note: The Board of Ethics and the Chief Ethics Officer shall have sole discretion concerning which type of opinion will be issued. However, please indicate whether you are requesting a Formal or Advisory Ethics Opinion below.
